

POOPSIE BOWER TUCK SCHOLARSHIP

The EMA Foundation for Paper Based Communications proudly presents the Poopsie Bower Tuck Scholarship.

The Poopsie Bower Tuck Scholarship will be awarded to a female member of the envelope manufacturing community seeking to advance her education. This scholarship will be offered annually in the amount of $5,000. The Poopsie Bower Tuck Scholarship Committee will judge applications.

About Poopsie

Joyce Hamilton, known to all as “Poopsie” was born on April 12, 1927, in Bradford, PA. After attending the University of Pennsylvania she moved to California with her parents where she met and married Nate Bower. In 1964, Nate started Papercone Corporation, a specialty envelope manufacturing company with Poopsie by his side. Poopsie was a great promoter of the industry and EMA where her friends and industry colleagues became family. After Nate passed, she married John Tuck. This scholarship was created in her honor by the EMA family after her death on November 28, 2016.
